

SPANISH CIVIL WAR ENTERS IN ITS THIRD YEAR

Prospects Are Gloomy for An Early Peace; Na- tion Prostrate

(Editor's Note: The Spanish civil war is entering its third year. The vital question of what the conflict means is answered in the following story by Charles P. Nutter, chief of the Associated Press Bureau in Madrid, now in the United States on vacation.)

BY CHARLES P. NUTTER
New York, July 16.—(AP)—Disastrous civil war in Spain comes to the end of its second year this week-end with prospects gloomy for an early peace.

Spain is prostrate. Her industry has stopped, her manhood shot down, her cities destroyed, her fields ravaged.

In the dawn of July 18, 1936, 20,000 foreign legionnaires revolted in Spanish Morocco. By nightfall the war reached the mainland.

On one side, Generalissimo Francisco Franco leads an army fighting against what he charges is a communistic tendency. His followers contend Spain's salvation lies in a corporate state like Fascist Italy's.

Resists Fascist Dictatorship
Government Spain is fighting to resist what it declares would be a Fascist dictatorship and for a socialist-republic state.

Franco's armies started in the southwest, quickly conquered western Spain and on Oct. 4, 1936, laid siege to Madrid, the capital.

Now they control about 70 per cent of Spanish territory. They have split government holdings by driving to the Mediterranean between Barcelona and Valencia.

An estimated 1,000,000 men are in both armies. At least 1,000,000 have been killed, another million or more wounded and up to 5,000,000 made destitute.

In government Spain, where the big cities are, shellings have laid waste billions of dollars of property. Much of Madrid is in ruins. Barcelona, Valencia, Alicante, Cartagena have suffered heavily.

Government leaders declare they have the means, money and morale to keep the war going for several years.

Insurgents Advance

Hendaye, France (At the Spanish Frontier), July 16.—(AP)—The Spanish insurgents attacked vigorously on the western flank of the 45-mile Mediterranean front today, advancing slowly down the Teruel-Sagunto highway behind a heavy bombardment from warplanes and artillery.

One column moved forward south of the highway and another north of it, using Sarrion as a base. Their objective was to pinch off the government-controlled sector around Mora de Rubielos, northeast of Sarrion.

Blast Government Lines

Dispatches from insurgent territory said scores of bombers were blasting government lines in the Sarrion sector and that government troops were in retreat.

Advices from Zaragoza said Manzanera, four miles south of Sarrion, had been captured.

The average gain along the 10-mile line, crossing the highway at right angles, was about four and a half miles, the insurgents said.

They reported they had reached the Paraisos river just outside of Albentosa, on the Teruel-Sagunto highway four miles southeast of Sarrion and center of roads leading to Manzanera and Mora de Rubielos.

The brunt of the defense was borne by government assault guards and Carabineros, veteran defenders of Madrid, rushed to the Sarrion front under the command of Colonel Hippito Menendez, commander of the government's eastern armies.

Government militiamen yesterday recaptured strategic Marcos mountain, near Tales, about 34 miles north of Valencia.

IRON LUNG IS LIFE SAVER TO FULTON YOUTH

Clinton, Iowa, July 16.—(AP)—An "iron lung" today snatched Alvin Van Kampen, 22, Fulton, Ill., from the grasp of death after the respirator, owned by the Burlington railroad, had been rushed to Clinton on a North-Western railroad streamlined train.

Van Kampen's diaphragm had become paralyzed from which physicians believe to have been an unrecognized case of infantile paralysis suffered several months ago and for which he never received medical treatment.

The paralysis of the diaphragm had been progressive and bothering him about eight months. Van Kampen told hospital attaches. Three months ago he had to quit work. He came to the hospital last night and his trouble was diagnosed quickly.

Before being placed in the respirator, artificial respiration had been resorted to several times to keep him alive until the "Q" iron lung arrived.

Millionaire Chicago, July 16.—(AP)—A will drawn six years before he was born has made a millionaire of Jason Paige, Jr., 28, and a bachelor.

Paige, an advertising man, learned yesterday that his great-aunt had bequeathed him a $1,000,000 trust fund 34 years ago.

The great-aunt was Mrs. Ada Sawyer Garrett, a recluse and member of a pioneer Chicago family. She died June 18. Her will disposed of a $2,250,000 estate.

WHEAT PROGRAM RIGID TEST FOR NEW FARM ACT

May Restrict Planting To Smallest in 30 Years

Washington, July 16.—(AP)—The administration's effort to restrict 1939 wheat planting to the smallest acreage in 30 years posed a severe test today for its new farm law.

Acting under provisions of the legislation, Secretary Wallace established a national allotment of 55,000,000 acres, or about 25,000,000 acres less than was planted for the surplus-creating crop now being harvested.

Wallace declared that, on the basis of official forecasts of a 967,412,000-bushel crop this year and a possible surplus of 400,000,000 bushels, only 55,000,000 acres would be needed to produce sufficient grain next year to maintain adequate supplies for domestic and export requirements. Not since 1909 has so small an acreage been planted as he proposed.

At average yields, the national allotment would produce a crop of about 660,000 bushels. As an inducement for compliance with the sharpest reduction program ever proposed by the department, wheat growers will be offered benefit payments totaling about $125,000,000.

Failure of a considerable portion of the farmers to comply would result, officials said, in a crop larger than needed and would make it necessary for the department to propose marketing quotas to limit sales of the new crop.

The quota system would have to be approved by two-thirds of the farmers in a referendum next spring.

Officials estimated an indicated crop of 675,000,000 bushels or more would make it necessary to propose quotas. Under quotas, farmers selling an excess of their marketing shares would be subject to a penalty tax of 15 cents a bushel.

Reaction to the reduction program is expected to show itself in August when many winter wheat farmers will start preparing land for fall seeding. Individual allotments will be made within a few weeks, officials said.

The 1939 planting program was the second provision of the new farm law involved this week to support wheat prices and income. Government loans averaging between 59 and 60 cents a bushel were made available Thursday for growers desiring to withhold grain from the market until supplies are reduced and prices are higher.

One Man Killed, Another Badly In- jured in Peoria Labor Union Fight

Peoria, Ill., July 16.—(AP)—One man was shot and killed and another wounded during a fracas at the headquarters of the Peoria Building Laborers Union, local 165.

Earl Severs, about 30, was shot fatally through the heart. Robert Deisher, was wounded seriously in the chest.

Police Chief Leo F. Kamins said Leonard De Vasher, about 28, was held as the man who did the shooting. De Vasher, battered about the head with a chair, was in custody at a hospital.

The fight and shooting occurred about 8:30 A. M. Chief Kamins said all three of the principals were members of the union but none was

RENDEZVOUS IN PACIFIC OCEAN CALLING TO FDR

President to Enjoy a Fishing Trip on Heavy Cruiser

Aboard President Roosevelt's train enroute to Los Angeles, July 16.—(AP)—Salt air, big fish and a rest from many tiring duties of his office beckoned President Roosevelt today to a rendezvous far out in the Pacific.

The President, riding his cross-country special train, rolled down from the high Sierra Nevada this morning to Los Angeles and the last leg of his land journey.

Motor cars waited at Los Angeles to carry him to ship-side at San Diego, where the heavy cruiser Houston was ready to weigh anchor with the presidential entourage.

The Houston will take Roosevelt to the haunts of enormous marlin, sailfish, barracudas and sharks, down where the Galapagos islands nestle below the Equator.

The President will drop anchor wherever his navy fishermen advisers suggest a 300-pounder might lurk. He will not head home until just in time to reach the Panama Canal August 5. A four-day sail from there will land him back in the United States at Pensacola, Fla.

To Keep In Touch.

While expecting to keep his fishing line wet for most of the journey, the chief executive will remain in what he described as "five minute touch" with Washington.

White House aides indicated, however, that only the most important matters would be laid on Roosevelt's ship desk.

Stephen T. Early, White House press secretary who will accompany Roosevelt on the cruise, will furnish a daily radio dispatch to newspapers and agencies. No newsmen will be on the destroyer that accompanies the Houston, as there usually are when the President leaves the country.

As a preliminary of today's departure, Roosevelt announced last night the appointment of Elmer Andrews, New York state labor commissioner, as administrator of the wage-hour act.

He had just returned from what he likes to call a "look-see" trip through Yosemite National park when he sent word to reporters on his train that Andrews would get the post.

VanPetten Man is Hailed Into Court on Wife's Complaint

John Evans, VanPetten, was ordered to appear before Judge Grover Gehant in county court this morning to face a charge of violating a temporary order growing out of an information filed March 3 charging wife and child abandonment.

The bench warrant to appear for violation of the order was issued July 11. The information charged Evans of wilfully neglecting his wife Lora Evans and his eleven-year-old daughter Evelyn Pauline. The temporary order required payment by Evans of the sum of $5 per week for their support.

Mrs. Evans accused the defendant of deliberately refusing to get work and failure to comply with promises he had previously made to apply for WPA employment at home. State's Attorney Edward Jones represented the plaintiff and Attorney John Mills the defendant. Justice Gehant continued the case until next Saturday morning at 10 o'clock. Pending the next hearing Evans was returned to the custody of Sheriff Ward Miller.

Pekin, Ill.—(AP)—The drowning of James Cole, 25, of Spring Valley, yesterday while he was attempting to swim across Spring Lake, 18 miles south of here, was found last night by a coroner's jury to have been accidental. Cole was a woodcraft instructor at Camp Walton.

MISSISSIPPI TRAIN COMES HERE SUNDAY

In the absence of Mayor William V. Slothower, who is attending the annual national Elks convention at Atlantic City, N. J., Commissioner of Finance Clyde B. Lenox presided as acting-mayor at the city council meeting last night.

Attention was called at the council meeting to the Mississippi train, which will arrive in Dixon at 4:15 P. M., Sunday on the Illinois Central carrying a delegation of 200 who are on a good-will tour of the nation. The train will stop for a time on its way from Bloomington to Dubuque, Ia. During stops exhibits of articles made in Mississippi are on display on the train.

Dixon's municipal band will greet the tourists on the station platform and the council urges a large representation of the citizenry to be present to welcome these guests.

Following adjournment of the session the commissioners, firemen, police department and guests attended a short film moving picture on the recent firemen's school in Springfield at the fire hall. The film was exhibited by Fire Chief Sam Cramer.

Son of Dixon Woman Worked for Aviator

Of all the thousands of persons following the progress of Howard Hughes as he sped with four companions across three continents and two oceans on his record-shattering airplane flight this week, probably few were more anxious about the outcome than Edward Foster Baldwin of LaFayette, La., son of Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Sandberg of 623 Crawford avenue. Mr. Baldwin is an enthusiastic admirer of the multi-millionaire flier, with whom he is personally acquainted, and who as owner of the Hughes Tool Company of Houston, Tex., is the former Dixontite employee.

Mr. Baldwin has been associated with the LaFayette office of the Hughes company for several years, acting as salesman for the oil well equipment it manufactures. In February of this year Mr. and Mrs. Sandberg visited with her son, who, with Mrs. Baldwin, plans to leave from New Orleans July 20 on a two weeks' vacation cruise.

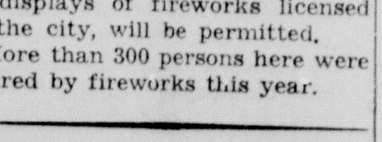

Mr. Baldwin is a son of the late William E. Baldwin, who was a major in the United States-African War.

Samuel Insull, Fallen Billionaire, Dies From Heart Attack in Paris

Widow Is Reported In a State of Collapse

Paris, July 16.—(AP)— Samuel Insull, 78, fallen $4,000,000,000 ruler of Midwest Utilities empire, died suddenly early this afternoon.

Officials said he collapsed from a heart attack in a subway train. Insull was taken by subway employees to the nearby Paul-Mar-mottan Emergency hospital in the Etiole district.

Mrs. Insull, in a state of collapse when she reached the hospital, said that when she left their hotel apartment at noon the aging magnate told her he was going to write a few letters and then go to lunch.

"I had told him never to take a subway because it was bad for his heart," she said weeping.

First reports when the former financier's body was brought to the hospital said he had been killed by a hit-and-run driver. Police, however, said a heart ailment from which he had suffered for several years had proved fatal.

Son in Geneva

After collapsing when she saw the body, Mrs. Insull received restoratives and then at once sent a cable to her son, Samuel, Jr., in Geneva, Ill., notifying him of his father's death.

Insull only last Monday reached Paris, which four years ago was the first stop on his dramatic cross-Europe flight to evade embezzlement charges growing out of collapse of his utilities empire in 1932.

This time he was on a pleasure trip to visit Mrs. Insull.

"Dad died suddenly afternoon, love, Mother," said Mrs. Insull's message to her son.

Soon after Insull was brought in to the hospital Dr. Edmund L. Gros, chief of the medical staff of the American hospital in Paris, was called to the emergency hospital.

Holy Land Jews Appeal For Help

Jerusalem, July 16.—(AP)—American-Jewish homesteaders at Ain Hashophet appealed for help today, reporting they still were in a perilous position after twice repulsing armed Arab attacks.

Ain Hashophet, settled mostly by American emigres, is in an isolated section of the northern E-dracon plain near Haifa, a center of turmoil in the Holy Land.

The settlers said they repulsed "heavy attacks by khaki-uniformed Arab bands 100 strong," the first on Thursday and the second last night.

They declared they inflicted "undetermined Arab casualties."

Military patrols tightened their watchful grip on the excited Haifa area as the aftermath of the second pitched battle at Ain Hashophet.

The bomb terror, meanwhile, spread to Acre where three Arabs were wounded in the explosion of one of three bombs. Arab shops were closed throughout Haifa.

Chicago Police Have Two Versions of Fatal Stabbing of WPA Workers

Chicago, July 16.—(AP)—Police were confronted with two versions of the fatal stabbing on a deserted west side street of two WPA workers last Tuesday morning after the arrest today of Bryan Devaney, 43, another WPA worker.

Officer Leslie Iverson said that after he and John Hanks, another policeman, had seized Devaney on an anonymous tip, the prisoner admitted stabbing the pair. He told police the stabbing victims, Michael Pykar, 23, and Stanley Liesen, 27, were members of a band of four men who had attempted to rob him and a companion in an alley.

Iverson said Devaney related that the prisoner's friend, James Hea-

TWO DIMINUTIVE PRISONERS FLEE WILL CO. CELLS

Joliet, Ill., July 16.—(AP)—Two diminutive prisoners, one held on an indictment charging murder, escaped from the Will county jail today after sawing bars in their cell and a window and using an improvised rope.

Sheriff Michael Breen reported the two men, John Hritz, 25, of Gary, Ind., and Leonard Latos, 19, of Joliet, both of whom weigh less than 140 pounds, squeezed through an aperture of less than one foot in the cell block window to escape.

Sheriff Breen said six hack-saw blades were found in the cell block after their escape was discovered at 8:30 A. M. The prisoners, Breen said, apparently had gained freedom to their cell block before the cells were opened at 5 A. M. and worked during the night sawing bars on the cell block window.

A strip from a mattress cover, about 10 feet long, was tied to the bars on the window. The men dropped about 20 feet to the ground.

Aid Is Asked.

Five squads of deputies searched Will county for the escaped prisoners. Sheriff Breen asked aid of city and state police.

Hritz was indicted by a grand jury last May for the fatal shooting of Phillip Zappa in a Joliet tavern March 31 during a holdup.

Hritz's companion, Edward Batzell, of Michigan City, Ind., is being held in the jail and was scheduled to stand trial with Hritz at the September term of court.

Latos was awaiting trial on an automobile theft charge.

Sheriff Breen said the hack-saw blades evidently had been smuggled into the jail and expressed belief an automobile was awaiting the men when they escaped.

University Gives Plans for Student Center Building

Champaign, Ill., July 16.—(AP)—The board of trustees of the University of Illinois announced yesterday the new $1,250,000 student center building would be known as the Illinois Union building.

Confirming plans for its construction, the board indicated the building would be situated on the campus quadrangle near the hub of student activity. The site approved was between the natural history and law buildings just north of Green street.

Meeting in Chicago, the trustees named Howard L. Cheney of Chicago, a graduate of Illinois in 1912, as consulting architect. Federal aid covering a large part of the structures cost already has been granted. The balance will be provided by a loan and alumni gifts.

PERKINS BULL, KNOWN IN DIXON, SHARES ESTATE

Canadian is Beneficiary in Will of Horlick Milk Heiress

Toronto, July 16.—(Canadian Press)—W. Perkins Bull, Toronto attorney, was under subpoena today to appear at a suddenly-ordered inquest into the death of Mrs. Maybelle Horlick Sidley, 61-year-old heiress to the Horlick malted milk fortune, who died at her home July 6.

The inquest was ordered by Attorney General Gordon Conant for July 26 after a conference last night with police officials. No reason was given for the action.

A private autopsy, performed with permission of her son, William, the day Mrs. Sidley died, found death due to natural causes, from a brain tumor that followed a spinal lesion.

Police launched an inquiry July 7, however, at the request of the Attorney General, who explained that "the atmosphere of the case puts it on inquiry."

Later Joseph L. Rogers, Ontario government analyst, said no poisonous substance had been found in a chemical analysis of Mrs. Sidley's vital organs.

Terms of the will of Mrs. Maybelle Horlick Sidley, malted milk heiress were officially revealed at Racine, Wis., Friday by executors of her estate. The terms tallied closely with the unofficial summary of the will made public last night. Mrs. Sidley died a week ago Wednesday.

Executors, however, said that Mrs. Sidley's fortune will be considerably less than the $9,000,000 previously estimated. They explained that on her father's estate of between 14 and 20 million dollars more than 9 million dollars income taxes were paid, leaving Mrs. Sidley's inherited share only three million or less.

Her own private fortune has been estimated at between two and three million, making a total estimated maximum of 6 million dollars for the estate. This also is subject to inheritance tax.

Bequest and Share for Bull
The two largest specific bequests were $250,000 to W. Perkins Bull, Canadian barrister at whose home in Toronto, Ont., she died; and $250,000 to her son, William Horlick Sidley. Bull and her son were each left one-third the residue of the estate after the payment of certain bequests.

Bull will be remembered by Dixonsites as one of the speakers at the dedication of the Peoria avenue bridge. Of late years he has not visited the United States.

William Horlick Jr., Mrs. Sidley's brother; William Sidley, the son; Bernard Magruder, and Miss Andrea Pultz, both of Racine, and Col. Roy F. Parrand, Delafield, Wis., were named executors.

Specific cash bequests to 48 beneficiaries total $912,000. In addition there is an $100,000 trust fund for Alice Horlick Maternity hospital to be used for the assistance of charity patients.

After these specific bequests to relatives, employees of the malted milk plant, and Canadian friends, the remainder of the remaining third of the residue estate was left to St. John's Military academy, Delafield, Wis., to form the Maybelle Horlick endowment fund, the income to be used as directed by the headmaster.

One Brother Not Mentioned

Alexander J. Horlick, brother of Mrs. Sidley, was not mentioned in the will, emphasizing the rift in the family. Her older brother, William Horlick, Jr., was named executor.

Mrs. Sidley further directed that all her debts be forgiven.

Bernard Magruder, Racine attorney, advisor to the heiress, was named executor.

Five cousins received bequests. They are Bessie Horlick, $25,000; Florence Horlick Matusek, $15,000; Alexander Horlick of England, $15,000; Oliver Horlick of England, $15,000; and Adelaide Horlick of England, $15,000.

The will contains the following stipulation:

"Any person opposing the probate of the will or contesting the validity shall forfeit all benefits thereunder."

It is reported that William Sidley plans to contest the instrument. He has already retained legal counsel.

Three Leaves 3 Million.

Three days following Mrs. Sidley's death, her mother, Mrs. Arabella Horlick, died, leaving an estate estimated at $3,000,000; of which Mrs. Sidley was left a third, it was learned. It is believed that Mrs. Sidley's share will go to her heirs at law, and not become a part of her estate. Her son is the only heir at law.

The will of Mrs. Sidley supercedes two other wills, one made in 1927, the other made in 1934. This will was drawn in the home of W. Perkins Bull, April 8, of this year, where Mrs. Sidley had been a guest.

NEW PAINT TONES BLONDE FURNITURE

Attractive New Color
Schemes Combine Well
With Blonde Furniture

BY RUTH McINERNEY

Homemakers are discovering that blonde backgrounds are flattering—not only to people but to some pieces of dark furniture as well. What is a blonde background? It's like this, you see. Blonde or bleached wood, furniture seems to call for fragile pastel tones in walls and trim, or for the lush fruit and gem shades. Heretofore, dark furniture has somewhat limited their use on large wall areas. But blonde woods immediately okay this decorative right-about face, or is it blonde-about face?

Here, for instance, is a prescription for an inviting live-dine room with wood paneled walls, flat-varnished and waxed. The ceiling is painted shell-white while the baseboard and molding are enameled ebony. A sofa with a base of exotic yellow acacia wood is upholstered in rust-tan, as is a neighboring armchair. Tables, bookcases, and side chairs are bleached maple. One sofa is upholstered in duobonnet and larkspur blue (the base being acacia wood). Beige curtains and draperies, and accessories of the wine tone and blue complete the picture.

You may blend your blondes, if you wish. In one living room where blondes are combined, the walls and ceiling are pale yellow. Corner cabinets and coffee table are of platinum-toned blonde finish, while twin sofas, occasional chairs, tables and desk are a sunny honey blonde. A honey blonde lamp base has a delectable blue shade which matches the slip cover on one chair, the glassware and the candles. Sepia brown draperies hang at the windows.

Brunette and blonde also blend beautifully. Some pieces of blonde furniture have walnut bases. This combination goes well with chartreuse walls, a brown rug, cream woodwork and ceiling. Blonde and ebony—blonde and nut brown are other effective combinations.

The youngest generation appreciates beautifying backgrounds also. One small girl's room has rose-colored walls and a white ceiling. The furniture is blonde maple; the bedspread is of pink and white, tufted. On the peppermint green painted floor are rose and white plaid rag rugs.

A bedroom with blonde mahogany furniture has aquatone painted walls and a rug in a deeper sea color. Ceiling and woodwork are white. Bedspread, bench covering and pillows are ash rose. The draperies combine ash rose with aqua.

It's fun to mix your own blonde combinations. For example, have sage green painted walls with pure white painted ceiling and woodwork, combined with yellow accessories. This background is decidedly effective for blonde mahogany, yellow hawthorn or blonde maple. If your room has gray hawthorn or grayed blonde wood furniture, have light gunmetal gray painted walls and woodwork, parlor gray ceiling, coral upholstery, draperies and accessories. You'll also be in fashion if you select one of the duobonnet shades to combine with the blonde woods—upholster the pieces and plan draperies in fuchsia, eggplant or elderberry blue—paint the ceiling a very delicate ivory—feature accessories in harmonizing shades of blue-green.

A Home Makes Fine Investment

Throughout the last few years of economic depression, the old and fundamental soundness of careful investment in a home and lands has again been enunciated. Amidst the chaotic deflation of almost every known type of investment, money placed in a good home which was not purchased at an excessive cost, has continued to return, year in and year out, its full measure of dollar-for-dollar value.

Money saved through investment in a home in which the owner expects to live is money placed beyond the reach of any future economic upheaval. Money buys a service which is needed throughout the life of its owner.

If one has ever thought of the desirability of owning his own home and has failed to make the dream come true in the past, do your desicive thinking on the subject today, because existing circumstances demand it. Never since the American settlers first built their homes of logs has it been so easy, from a financial standpoint, for the average family to acquire a good new home on terms which they can afford.

Unusual conditions, peculiar to the period in which we are living today and which are unlikely to be repeated within a generation, have produced this situation:

First, for nearly five years American building developments have been going along at an all-time low ebb. Naturally labor and material costs are low as yet there is no building revival to boost them out of sight.

Secondly, to stimulate the lagging recovery of the great building industry, which is normally the second largest industry in the United States, the government has set up the Federal Housing Administration to administer the National Housing Act, whereby new low cost home loan arrangements have placed the cost of living in any buying a new home on a par and in many cases lower than prevailing rents.

REPAIR ROOFS BEFORE WINTER

In most things its best to start at the bottom and work up, but when you modernize your home you can go into reverse—and it's not a bad idea at that. The roof of house is important. It's all there is between the home and rain, snow, and broiling sun. Of all the house, the roof is probably the most neglected. Just because it's way up out of sight people forget about it, and it goes through the years wearing away. People "hope" it's all right. When a roof starts to look shabby that's a sign that it has outlived its usefulness. Then is the time to over it.

LAVATORY FOR WORK SHOP IS IDEAL FOR MEN

Most men of the house would like a separate washroom located in the basement near the workshop.

A small washroom may be added for a nominal cost. It should have proper light and is more convenient if shelves for soaps, brushes, etc., are included. The walls and door should be painted a bright cheerful color in a good washable paint. It is a good idea to apply a ring of dark colored paint about the door knob for this will not show up dirty finger prints like a lighter tone.

MODERN...

A rather unusual use of concrete blocks for the exterior walls of this modern house is shown above. Note the rounded corners and the slight projection of the masonry at the head of the second floor windows. The concrete walls have been painted white. Steve Jokel, Architect.

LOVE ON THE RANGE

BY NELSON C. WYE

The Story So Far

Under the name of Abe Streeter, quick-fire Ankrom takes a job on the troubled Rafter T ranch to help lovely Lee Trone. Colonel Struthers and his daughter Betty come to visit, and Ankrom recognizes Struthers as an imposter. Kelton Dreen, Dreen is shot and Betty slips Ankrom her gun, saying she did it. Ratchford, the burly sheriff, holds them all for questioning, including Claydell, a neighboring rancher. Accidentally, Ankrom drops Betty's gun on the floor.

Chapter 14 Questions

In plain sight, blue and cold and grim it lay. The surprise had frozen them all to a rigid tenseness. Ankrom thought the pounding of his heart must surely shake him.

"Well!" the sheriff drawled at last. "Well! What parlor trick is this, Streeter?"

Ankrom grinned with a mirthlessness that showed the whiteness of his teeth. "Shucks," he said, "I feel downright ashamed to call that weakin' mine."

"I shouldn't wonder." With heavy irony Ratchford stooped to pick the weapon up. Yet even as his fingers spread to grip it, Ankrom covered the pistol with his foot.

Grimly Ratchford straightened. The head on his thick neck came forward until his heavy features were within ten inches of Ankrom's. Unblinking, the smoking eyes stared balefully.

His words were low, spaced wide apart: "Where did you get that gun?"

Across Ankrom's mind came the vision of the girl from Paso Pinto rising from the crumpled form of Kelton Dreen with one hand holding papers, a pistol in the other. This pistol!

He eyed it warily. Had the spurious Struthers' life been snuffed with this?

He let his glance rest upon the sheriff's. By your tone," he told him, "a man would figure it was a crime to own more'n one gun in Texas?"

"Never mind airin' your opinions. I want to know where you got this gun."

"I don't know that it's any of your business, Ratchford."

"I'm making it my business."

LOVE ON THE RANGE

BY NELSON C. WYE

"Boot Hill is filled with fellas that had that habit—"

"Damn you!" Ratchford swore. "You answer my question an' answer it quick or I'll slap the bracelets on you an' take you in for this killin'!"

"What evidence you got that I downed Struthers? Law says you got to have evidence before you can arrest a man for a thing like this."

"Yeah? Well, that law don't cover you. The laws ain't made for driftin' saddle tramps that go round stirrin' up trouble. Talk, fella—talk, or I'll take you in!"

Ankrom stood there, his eyes like tempered steel, the lean cheeks drawn taut. Trouble, he told himself, was like his shadow. He could not escape it—wherever he turned his eyes, there lay trouble waiting. To move amid scenes of turmoil seemed to be his portion. There was no escape . . . save death.

Very well, then; he was through trying. He would serve these trouble-bringers what they asked for. He would give them all they wanted from here on out; he would hurl it in their teeth.

As the sheriff's voice stopped Ankrom's right hand shrank into a hard fist. He took a forward stride as the sheriff stepped back a pace and stood. His eyes held Ratchford like a grip; they were pale blue, like ice, they were baffling, mocking, hateful. "What was it you wanted, Ratchford?"

"Who hired you?"

Caution clouded the sheriff's glance. "I want to know where that gun came from."

"From the waistband of my trousers."

"Where'd you get it?"

As Ankrom was about to make answer, from the tail of his eye he caught a warning gesture. Just a tiny movement of a hand it was; a girl's hand—Lee's! Then she was not completely indifferent to him: the thought crossed his mind like light. Evidently she realized as did he himself, that Ratchford was out to find a goat and meant to find one before he left this room.

But Lee's cautioning gesture no longer held the force it might have held this morning. Stooping swiftly he came up with the gun his foot had covered; came up so suddenly the sheriff had no time to guess his purpose before the pistol's muzzle held him in grim focus as Ankrom backed to the wall beside the outer door.

"It didn't come from no dead man's hand, if that's what you're insinuatn'!" Ankrom drawled. "If you're aimin' to find a goat for this night's work, Ratchford, you better pick on someone else."

"Any man can talk behind a gun," the sheriff sneered. With a blur the pistol left Ankrom's hand and no one saw where he had sheathed it. White teeth gleamed coldly behind his parted lips. His attitude was a challenge to big Tom Ratchford, yet Ratchford did not move.

Ankrom said, "What caliber gun did the colonel use, Miss Struthers?"

"Why . . . a thirty-two, I believe."

"The pistol I just picked up was a thirty-two. It came off the ground near Struthers' body. One shell has been exploded. Do you know, Ratchford, what caliber slug it was that killed the colonel?"

"A forty-five," the sheriff's voice came back. "I cut it out." A moment's pause, and then: "Like the gun I took out of your hand a while ago."

"Did you?" Ankrom said. The sheriff shrugged. His lids concealed the expression in his eyes. "All right then," he said, "like the forty-five you gave up at my request a while ago—if it makes you feel any better to have put it that way."

"It does. No man ever took a gun away from me yet, Ratchford—" "Hard hombre, eh? I've seen your type of drifter before—the kind that hires out its guns to the highest bidder. Who hired you to gun the colonel?"

"I didn't gun him. I told you that before. Now let me ask you one: How'd you know the slug that downed him was a forty-five? Mightn't it have been a forty-four?"

"Where Were You?" "Listen," Ratchford said testily. "I've fooled around guns long enough to recognize whether a chunk of lead was thrown from a forty-four or forty-five, no matter how badly it happens to be battered. There's a difference in the weight. Besides, this slug was pretty smooth. It was like the ones you gun—the one you give me—shoots."

"That doesn't mean anything," Ankrom said. "You've got a forty-five yourself. It's slung in that shoulder holster under your coat. Mr. Trone may be packin' one too, for all I know. Claydell, here, produced a thirty-eight at your insistence, but he may likewise have a forty-five cached about him some place. I don't see any guns on these two cowboys but if I was to judge them by the rest of you I'd say they was each packin' a forty-five, at least. For a country that's shucked its irons—"

"Never mind the sarcasm," Ratchford broke in roughly. He turned toward the two girls: "Miss Struthers, where were you when your ol' man was shot?"

The unexpectedness of the question brought a startled breath from Lee Trone. Her eyes flicked wide and darkened. Instinctively they sought Ankrom's. He gave her a reassuring quirk of the lips and turned his glance on Betty.

The sheriff's procedure elicited no sign of dismay from her. She had her wits about her every minute of the time, Ankrom reflected sardonically. "A girl that has all the answers," he summed her up. When she spoke her voice held that amount of huskiness genuine grief for her father's death might have caused.

"I—I—let me see," a white hand went to her forehead, rumpling the golden curls; a tiny pucker grew between her thoughtful eyes. "I had just stepped out the door there. Father had asked me to meet him out beneath that pepper tree; he said he had something private which he wished to talk to me about . . ." She bit her lip; her thoughts seemed far away. "I'm trying to recollect—it seems to me I had just stepped out the door and crossed the veranda. I was leaning against one of those funny posts—"

"Come, come," Miss Struthers, the sheriff exclaimed impatiently. "I asked you where you were when you heard the shots. I'm not interested in the history of your movements from the time you finished supper."

Upon the big sheriff the girl from Paso Pinto turned wide blue eyes in which there shone the hurt expression of a child who has been unjustly reproved. "But Mr. Ratchford, that is what I am trying to tell you. I had stepped out on the veranda when I heard two sharp reports—"

"Then you did not see the gun-flashes?" the sheriff growled. "You couldn't say from which direction the reports came?"

The girl shook her head. "I'm afraid not, I was looking—"

"Yeah," Ratchford cut her off. He swung round upon Lee Trone: "Lee," his eyes were on hers prominently, "what were you doing under the pepper tree when Colonel Struthers got shot?"

FAINT FOR LIGHT

In the living room, dining room, hall and study, color and style of decoration are important. In order to bring out the full beauty of the furnishings a relatively high level of general illumination is essential. Both natural daylight and artificial light are diffused throughout the room better when light colored ceiling tints are employed. When this is done, one is free to employ deeper, richer wall colorings as desired.

Attic Ventilation

A Simple System for Cooling the Home

Attic ventilation, which utilizes Nature's own cool night air, is an inexpensive and simple system for providing relief from excessive heat during the summer months.

Nearly everyone has experienced the wilting effect of a forced trip to the attic on a hot summer day. The sun beats down on the roof and the attic sometimes reaches a temperature of 130 degrees F. or more. This heat is absorbed by the house and transferred through the ceilings to the floors below. At night this heat is given off very slowly and usually it is four o'clock in the morning before it is cool enough to sleep.

With attic ventilation it is possible to prevent heat from accumulating in the attic and to cool the house by making use of the cooler night air. This is accomplished by installing an attic ventilating fan in the attic. It draws cool night air in through every open door and window and exhausts the hot, stale air from the house.

The climate in this vicinity is especially adaptable to attic ventilation as the official temperature here shows that at night the temperature drops more than 26 degrees below the high of the day, and only once in the last several years has the night temperature failed to drop to 73 degrees or below.

If an attic fan did nothing more than exhaust the heat from the attic it would make a substantial difference in the heat of the house. But it also cools the walls, floors, and furniture and provides a constant, gentle breeze which permits sound sleep in cool comfort.

The large quantity of cool night air which the attic ventilating fan draws through the house removes the heat from the living quarters and lowers the temperature inside, so that the house remains much cooler and more comfortable through the heat of the following day.

The attic ventilating fan is much larger than the ordinary household fan. It runs very slowly and is quiet even though it moves a large volume of air. An attic fan is easily installed in any size or type of house.

Building Tips for Any Home

GARAGE ENTRANCE

There should be a direct entrance from the garage into the main hall or other passage of the living quarters. Usually one finds an entrance through the kitchen. This is many times inconvenient, annoying and even embarrassing. If there is not a quick access to the front porch or entrance, find a place other than the kitchen, where a door may be placed.

Houses can look younger if practical considerations are taken into account in the ever-fascinating game of selecting color schemes.

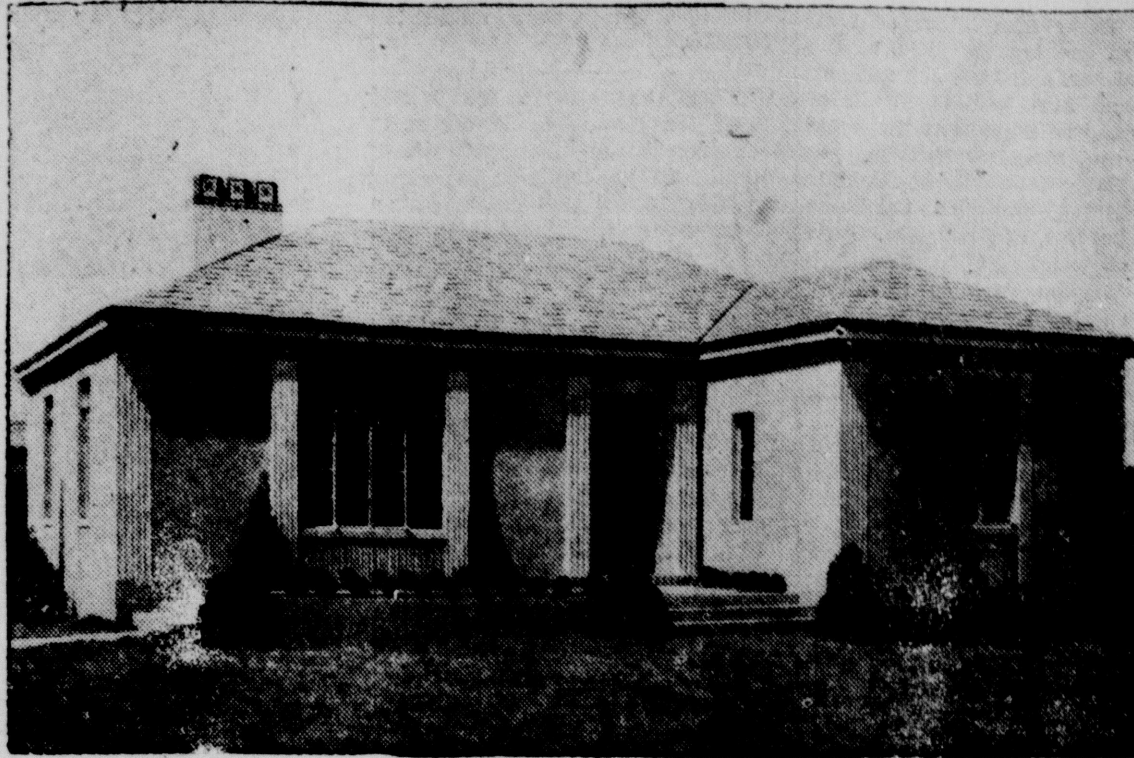

The application of two coats of Portland cement paint to concrete masonry walls has proved to be an effective and durable treatment for waterproofing this type of wall. In instances where re-pointing and exterior wall treatment costs appear to be excessive, the application of three coats of Portland cement stucco may prove to be the most economical and satisfactory method for maintaining the exterior masonry wall.

SIGNS OF DECAY: First signs of decay may already be apparent on your building—a leaking roof, paint-thirsty surfaces, sagging doors, rusted sheet metal. All these things, unless remedied at once, mean a rapid accumulation of expenses.

USELESS PORCHES MAKE SPLENDID BREAKFAST NOOKS

The world moves around us at a pretty rapid pace. Modernization is seen everywhere. Why not seize the present opportunity for renovating and remodeling, and convert an old, outmoded, open back porch or side porch into a sunny glassed-in breakfast room. Then, later in the year you may be able to terrace the ground outside the new sun room, and have it open on to a terrace with lawn chairs and sun-umbrellas!

In the meantime we confidently expect the attendance of the record-breaking congregations that are worshipping here these summer months.

You will find a hearty welcome at any and all of these services.

Sunday Evening Service

Rev. Foster B. Statler, pastor of the Church of the Brethren, and former pastor of a college church, will be the speaker at the fourth union out-of-door service next Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock. He will preach on the theme, "The Set of the Soul." Maurice Bates is chairman of the committee on arrangements, and will preside at the service. Also on the committee are George Ray, Roy McNutt, Miss Myrtle Allen, and Miss Lois Fossler. They are planning the special music and the other details of this service.

Last Sunday evening was the first evening of the series which was favored by good weather and the absence of conflicting holiday attractions, and by actual count there were 180 people present for the service. In his sermon on "Star Gazing," Rev. William L. Manny defined "star gazing" as "such dreaming as removes the dreamer from the world of reality. He said that Jesus was always aware of human needs, and always administered to them; and that Christians today should not be looking to a distant heaven, but should be engaged in meeting the real needs of people." The girls' sextette sang the "Cherubim Song" and their singing came through the amplifiers in well balanced harmony. Miss Ruth Meeker, general chairman of the union summer meetings, presided.

The public is most cordially invited to participate in these union services.

HERE AND THERE

Albert Ritson is spending ten days with his brother, Dr. J. H. Ritson, and with the Carl Zastrow family in Chicago. Mr. Ritson is a retired railroad man from DuBois, Pennsylvania.

Mrs. Folkert Maas, mother of Ben Maas, passed away Thursday, July 7, at her home in Forreston. Funeral services were held at the Forreston Grove Presbyterian church.

Grandon, newspaper publisher of that city, is dedicated. He will be accompanied by members of the local band and the following soloists: Warrant Officer Gerald Hoffman will play a cornet solo, and Sergeant Lee Douglas,

Thomas Buxby, and Lester Palmer, who will play with the Sterling band for the concert. The entire day will be given over to band music and general festivities but the dedication ceremony and concert will be held at 8:00 in the evening.

LINGLE-BLEVINS

Relatives in Mount Morris have received announcement of the recent marriage of Robert Lingle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lingle, and Gladys Blevins of Norwood, Kentucky. The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride, whose sister, Miss Zola and Albert Ruckel, were attendants. The newlyweds have returned to the community east of Oregon, where the groom is engaged in farming operations with his father. His aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gouger, are holding a reception for the young couple tomorrow evening.

The Burlington company has announced that the westbound Zephyr train will now stop at Oregon on signal, at 5:26 P. M., beginning July 18 and continuing until fall to let off passengers from Chicago and to pick up passengers for St. Paul and beyond. This is a service that should be highly appreciated by residents of this section, as it is the only opportunity in this vicinity to avail of the fast transportation offered by these trains.

State Hospital

BY G. E. PHILLIPS

The sympathy of the entire employed personnel goes today to our good friend Ben Gholsen for the loss of his wife who passed away after a lingering illness at their home in El Dorado earlier in the week. We understand arrangements were completed Wednesday for a suitable floral tribute testifying to the love and affection with which Ben and his wife were universally held by those privileged to know them.

The employees and residents of Cottage A-8 have hit on a novel method of cooperating with the campaign recently requested by the managing officer of all cottages against the house fly. Each resident of the cottage has assumed a voluntary quota of flies that he has agreed to dispose of and has agreed that in order to stay on the list of those eligible for amusements he will meet his quota. As a result when Miss Rose Whipp chief nurse, recently completed an inspection of the cottage, she expressed as being well pleased at the progress that had been made in eliminating flies from the cottage.

In describing the softball game between the I. M. U. and State Hospital employees teams of Wednesday evening, Alva Krider of the hospital, weather prophet remarked: "Gosh when Tony Guzzardo ran the bases after cracking out that home run, he ran almost as fast as my whippet. Alva forgot to tell us that a difficulty developed in Tony's clothing when he was enroute around the bases that put barrels at a premium."

Ben and Mrs. Pearson began their vacation yesterday.

John Sutton returned to duty yesterday after spending his day off with friends in McHenry.

THE TERMITE MENACE

The subterranean termite is the real bandit of the modern world. Like many a human bandit, he comes from a once honorable family of ancient lineage. His insatiable appetite for cellulose, the chief constituent of wood, has brought about his disgrace. This appetite of the termite is costing forty-five million dollars a year in damage to buildings, according to estimates of entomologists in the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Termites have existed on the American continent for millions of years. Their fossil remains have been found in glacial deposits many million years old. Their comparatively recent recognition as a menace to the safety of homes and other structures is evidence of their successful effort to adapt themselves to the changing conditions of civilization.

If you desire more information on termite protection write to the Bureau of Entomology of the U. S. Department of Agriculture for bulletins on the subject.

THE STONE IN DIXON BRIDGE

The "Geological Survey of Illinois," Volume 5, a part of an exhaustive work published by authority of the Illinois legislature in 1873, by A. H. Worthen and James Shaw, well-known geologists of that day, in its chapter on Lee County, has some interesting paragraphs on the character and quality of the stone used in the piers and abutments of the bridge built over Rock River in 1868. These piers and abutments are the same ones now about to be torn down for the erection of Dixon's new modern bridge, and although they have supported three bridges, the quality of the stone and the artistry of the masonry is still as notable as it was in the days of which the state geologists write:

An extract from the book says:

The Galena limestone, for heavy masonry, such as culverts, piers and the like, is the best in the country. The City of Dixon is now engaged (1868) in constructing a splendid iron bridge across Rock river to unite its north and south divisions. Two heavy abutments and a number of high, solid and heavy piers were necessary to support the great weight of iron in the structure and resist the crushing weight of ice, which sometimes impinges against them in the spring floods. After an unsuccessful attempt to contract for Joliet or Athens limestone, the persons having the work in charge made arrangements to build the heavy work necessary to be constructed out of the layers of massive Galena rock near the city. To this end De-met's quarry, about a mile northwest of the bridge, has been heavily worked during the past summer. Massive stones have been quarried in great quantities and dressed into proper shape. The result is highly satisfactory. It would be hard to find mason work anywhere which, for warmth and softness of color, massive strength, and the quality to season harder as the work grows older, can excel that now being completed for the iron bridge at Dixon. Not only does this stone answer well for marine masonry, but for building private residences, whether dressed or bush hammered, it is all that could be desired. For foundations, wells and the many other uses for which a stone is required, it also answers well.

MORE PARKING SPACE

The federal offer of W. P. A. money suggests a way in which more parking space could be provided for Dixonites and visitors. Remove the sidewalks from around the court house square, add that space to the streets and rebuild the sidewalks inside the present walls surrounding the square.

These elevated walks would be attractive. Benches, placed at intervals, would add to the comfort of visitors.

The added space gained in the four streets surrounding the court house would permit "head-in" parking and make room for hundreds of automobiles, thereby relieving the greatly restricted parking conditions in Dixon. The co-operation of the Lee County Board of Supervisors would be necessary for this improvement but we feel sure the county board would give its sanction to a move which would give comfort and hospitality to visitors at the county seat.

HEROES WITHOUT TIES

America likes its heroes casual, and that's the way it has them.

The latest addition to the gallery of idols is a man who has been called "the American tailor's despair." Howard Hughes flew the world's most elaborately equipped private plane out of New York with his coat off and his collar unbuttoned. As a concession to the modishly correct French, when he got to Le Bourget Mr. Hughes got out his coat and tie and a rather floppy felt hat.

There was another flight made about the same time by another adventurer, whose plane was as off-hand as Hughes' haberdashery. Douglas Corrigan, a west coast flyer who made a non-stop trip from Long Beach, Calif., to New York, was so very matter-of-fact about the whole thing from start to finish that nobody knew he'd done it till the day after he arrived.

The ship was eight years old. It had almost none of the flying instruments that are considered indispensable today. It didn't even have a radio. Corrigan didn't bother to take a 'chute along. He arrived with five gallons of gas in his tanks. The tanks were piled in the forward part of the plane and blocked his vision. When he wanted to check on where he was going he turned the ship sideways and peered out the window.

Corrigan's flight didn't add a chapter to the history of aviation, but it certainly added a bright footnote.

NATIONAL TRANSFUSION

To many who were born and brought up in this country, the priceless privilege of American citizenship is a commonplace. We don't think about it, we take little interest in politics, we exercise little of that eternal vigilance which is the price of liberty.

But it is not so to the 2,016 shining-eyed people who gathered at Geauga Lake near Cleveland the other day to receive diplomas certifying their new-born citizenship. They were foreign-born residents of the Cleveland neighborhood, and their pride in their new status shone in every face as the diplomas were presented. The enthusiasm, the evident devotion of the new citizens gave good Enroute with the President.

The aim of all members of the President's party at sea is "to let him alone." He occupies the admiral's quarters on the cruiser Houston, and no one enters except on call from him.

The only exception is the Marine orderly who stands guard outside the door and brings in wireless messages from Washington. He goes into the President's room, places the messages on the "President's board" (a file of messages) and goes out again.

Otherwise Roosevelt is not interrupted. Neither aide nor Secretary nor the naval aide nor Secretary Steve Early goes to the President unless summoned.

This does not mean he leads a hermit's life. Two meals out of three are eaten with members of his staff, and the daily fishing plus motion picture programs bring him into contact with all members of the floating White House, down to the humblest man. But it does mean essentially that the President sees no one he does not want to see, does nothing he does not want to do.

There is a routine daily schedule on board which is followed with little variation when the ship is at sea. It consists of breakfast, fishing, rest, lunch, fishing, siesta, dinner, movies, bed.

As on shipboard everywhere, the practice is to go to bed early. On the U. S. S. Houston there is no one on deck after 10:30 save men on duty. Similarly the rising hour is early.

Official Protocol.

The President can never escape, however, from the intrusion of formality. The high tone of the Washington social code prevails during at least two evenings on board—when the Captain of the Houston, George N. Barker, gives a dinner for the President, and when the President, pursuant to the rules of the game, returns the dinner on these two occasions, although there are no women to hold them to it, the men will wear evening dress.

The President has a way of being informal in the midst of formalities, but certain rules from the social and sea-going blue-books will prevail. The Captain, as host on board, will make the first gesture by inviting the President and his party to dinner. He will not invite subordinate members of his staff unless the President should indicate that the Executive Officer or some other high ranking member would be welcome.

Though the Navy declares it has no Emily Post, there are unwritten rules for seating. The Captain in this case will not take the head seat, as usual for the host, but will place the President, who is Commander-in-Chief of the Navy, in that position. This is a practice followed in the British Navy whenever the King is on board.

The head place is not necessarily at the head of the table. Probably Captain Barker will give the President a chair at the mid-point of one side of the table, and himself take the chair directly opposite. The one having priority is the chair facing the door.

After a proper lapse of time following the Captain's dinner the President will give a dinner for the Captain, and this time a subordinate officer or two is sure to be included.

Sea Amusements.

The President will not be among strangers aboard the Houston. The persons who actually see most of him are nine humble, silent, and watchful Filipino boys, who attend the President whenever he goes to sea, on whatever ship. Regularly they are assigned to the Presidential yacht Potomac. Now they are transferred to the Houston for the duration of this voyage.

The President has three principal amusements on board—reading, movies, and stamps, but the greatest of these is stamps. He brings with him from Washington a veritable library of stamp albums, his latest collection of uncatalogued stamps, and his magnifying glass. In the silence of his cabin far out at sea, he sorts the stamps, scrutinizes them, fixes them in the proper places. When the President is absorbed with his stamps he seems to be completely transported from the affairs of the world.

A special library of books—about 75 in number—is made up for the President's cabin whenever assurance that no foreign propaganda, "once a Ruritanian, always a Ruritanian," is going to touch them.

America welcomes such new citizens. In them, American ideals, freshly taught and espoused anew, often have their brightest reincarnation.

For in Cleveland this process is not left to a hit-or-miss formality in a grubby courtroom. A Citizens' Bureau, headed by prominent citizens, offers constant advice and help to aliens in problems of naturalization. It teaches and leads, and makes of the Americanization process a dignified and beautiful thing.

He goes to sea. Yeoman James Leason got a list in advance of the best selling books of the year, and stocked up—concentrating on detective stories and sea yarns.

One of the largest pieces of baggage taken aboard is the trunk full of movie reels. There are enough to provide a different show for each night of the voyage. The destroyer conveying the Houston will carry and use half of the films, then swap with the Houston at some midway point of the voyage.

The President watches the movies from a balcony seat out under the stars. He sits on the communication platform, which runs in a horseshoe shape over the forward deck, where members of the ship's crew are seated. The ship moved along quietly through the night at a moderate speed of about 20 knots, while the President looks down at a silver screen showing the latest films, some being films not yet released.

On the communication platform, also, the President takes his sunning. This and three other parts of the ship are the scope of his movements in the course of the voyage—the main deck, on which his quarters are located; the fore-castle; and the navigating bridge.

There are two reasons for the President's choice of the Houston among all the ships of his Navy. One is that he is acquainted with it and feels at home. The other is that the Houston, a "big flag-ship," has accommodations for an admiral and ten flag officers. It is these quarters which are used by the President and his party. Brain Twizzlers

PROF. J. D. FLINT

Again we juggle! The digits one, two, three, four and five are the subjects for this interesting little experiment. The object is to take two of these digits to make a two-digit number and multiply it by one of the other digits so that the answer is composed of the two remaining digits. Sounds easy, doesn't it. Well, as a matter of fact, it is; try it.

"The keenest anguish known to human nature is the pain of a new idea," (Bagehot). We hope this column brings you pain.

Answer to Question No. 1—

1. No, we are a nation of sit-downers who enjoy watching other people enjoy sports. For every football team of 22 there are about 22,000 sit-downers watching. A leading writer lays part of this to the policy of the colleges in making the big games circuses in which only a few acrobats can take part. In the high school a much larger proportion of the students actually take part in athletics.

2. An excellent recent book by John Beekman discusses this problem very sensibly. He thinks men know a great deal about men but very little about women but that men do know what they want from women and that the woman who finds out what that is in her particular man has the best chance of landing him—and holding him too.

of Los Angeles County was made by Pauline V. But she found they had little or no social education—training in social responsibilities—had weak home ties, unskilled or no jobs, belonged to few or no clubs, lodges, etc.—in other words had little training in meeting the obligations to their fellow-men. Coppotelli-Bonardi Rites Are Pledged at Sterling Today

An abundance of yellow and white summer flowers were used in St. Mary's Catholic church at Sterling this morning for the wedding of Miss Alice Marie Coppotelli, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Coppotelli of Nelson, and Philip J. Bonardi, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bonardi of Rock Falls. Msgr. Andrew J. Burns, before whom the bride's parents repeated their wedding vows 25 years ago, celebrated the nuptial high mass at 8 o'clock with nearly 300 relatives and friends witnessing the impressive rites.

Palms and ferns formed the background of green for the beauty of yellow and white coreopsis, snapdragons, and phlox, and the altar was lit by many ivory tapers in gold candelabra. White streamers marked the pews.

Miss Celeste Ward of Sterling was at the organ for the nuptial prelude. She also played accompaniments for two soloists, Miss Elizabeth Cleary of Oskaloosa, Iowa, who sang Gounod's "Ave Maria," and William Klocke of Sterling, whose number was "I Love you Truly." Miss Ward and the bride were former classmates at St. Joseph's Mercy hospital training school in Clinton, Iowa.

First to enter the aisle leading to the altar was Mrs. Albert Zizzardi, who came from Chicago to act as her sister's matron of honor. Following her were the bridegroom's sister, Miss Mary Bonardi of Rock Falls, maid of honor, walking with Lawrence Coppotelli, Jr. of Nelson, who served as best man, and Miss Josephine Bevilacqua of Nelson, bridesmaid, escorted by Michael Demea of Chicago, groomsmen. Maribelle Jenkins of Freeport, little five-year old cousin of the bride, was flower girl, and assisting her in scattering rose petals before the bride was Master Herbert Gardner of River Forest, also five. The bride's uncle, Charles Lauri of Chicago, and Albert Bizzardi, her brother-in-law, were ushers.

The bride entered with her father, who gave her in marriage. She chose pale yellow slipper satin for her wedding gown, simply designed with a square neck, and long, fitted sleeves, puffed at the shoulders and extending in a point over the wrists. Her three-tier veil of tulle in the same delicate shade of yellow, fell from a halo to extend far beyond the train of her dress. The gold cross she wore was her gift from the bridegroom. With her cascade bouquet of yellow roses, baby's breath, and valley lilies, she carried a pearl rosary, presented to her by her mother, and a tinted prayer book.

Her attendants wore pastel shades of mousseline de soie, embroidered with white love knots. Their gowns were designed alike, with square necklines, puff sleeves, and very full, floor-length skirts. Their half veil hats and Colonial bouquets tied with tulle matched the shade of their frocks. Mrs. Bizzardi choosing aqua, Miss Bonardi blush pink, and Miss Bevilacqua, pale blue. Each carried a bead rosary to match her dress, her gift from the bride.

The little flower girl was dressed in pale green organdy, and her escort wore a white gabardine suit. The bride's mother chose ashes of roses lace and white accessories, with a corsage of pink roses, and Mrs. Bonardi wore aqua crepe, with a gardenia corsage.

After the ceremony, 20 guests were invited to the Lincoln Tavern for the wedding breakfast. The bride's cake, rising six tiers high, was topped with a minute bridal par, and was baked by Mrs. Louis Bevilacqua of Nelson.

Later, Mr. Bonardi and his bride left on a fortnight's wedding trip which will take them to the Delis and other points in Wisconsin. For traveling, the bride changed to a crepe frock of British tan, with a gardenia white shawlskin coat, of rice linen and British tan accessories.

By Sept. 1, the couple hope their new brick bungalow in Rock Falls will be ready for occupancy. The building site they chose is near the Rock Falls Community high school, where the couple first met.

Mrs. Bonardi was graduated from the Nelson grade school and from the Rock Falls high school. In 1936 she was graduated from St. Joseph's Mercy hospital training school in Clinton, and also holds

PRESS TEAM WINS AFTER HECTIC END

Fulfs Defeat The Home Lumber by A 5-3 Margin

As the floodlights at the Airport diamond were snuffed last night a gang of arguing softball players were left in the dark—in more ways than one. The whole dispute was dropped like a hot potato with a final reading of Telegraph 6—Medusa 5 and everyone went home to bed.

If ever a pitcher deserved a win, it was Charlie Foster, Telegraph hurler, who last night stepped to the rubber for the third consecutive night. The press boys, hoping to be easy on Foster, started the contest with Hunt who was soon knocked out of the box with aims dished across plate in southern style—slow and easy. Foster took the mound in the third, hitched his trousers and started in. Things took a brighter hue for the newbies and it was three up and three down for four innings during which time Foster struck out six from the enemy camp.

Wickler's Homer
The white dust boys collected three chalkmarks in the second chapter off the easy bowling of Hunt and the Telegraph found its stride in a wildcat third episode. Anderson took a free ticket, Hunt beat out a triple and came in on an error by centerfielder, Wickler did a Howard Hughes trip around the diamond for a homer, Carlson connected for a neat double, Walker fanned for the first out, Greenfield popped into tragedy from shortstop to first, Scott stroled to first and Dowd swung into the three-away, but not before Carlson had raced in to home, sweet, home for the inning's fourth tag.

Things looked about to end up in peace when there were two away in the last of the seventh and another would have cleared the stands. However, Nagle stuck in his thumb and pulled out a plum which landed him on first with an error from shortstop. The chatter began and Helfrick took a walk followed by Halligan at the plate. Halligan connected and the ball flew wild for a minute. Helfrick landed on a fielder's choice, Nagle crossed the security plate and Helfrick was called out at home. The roar started, but today's another day and the win went to the Telegraph.

The cement lads took six hits from Hunt before overworked Foster stepped in to hold them for the rest of the night. The paper boys totaled 7 hits off the aims of Halligan.

FULFS-5, LUMBER-3
Fulfs who began the show last night, go on record today with their third win of the season as a result of a somewhat dull defeat of Home Lumber—dull in the light of the contest which closed the evening's entertainment. The timber wolves collected lone stars in the second, fourth and final acts while their rivals marked down one in the first, three in the fourth and an only-child in the fifth.

Victory's lead cut the seventh inning in half and threw it to the discard.

Neat Triple
After two farewells in the last of the fourth Watts was walked, D. Bush whacked the pellet for a neat triple, Owens connected for a single to drive in Don for the second run and R. Bush's triple brought in Owens before the side was retired.

Evans came to bat as a pinch-hitter for McNamara in the last trip to plate for Home Lumber. Hopes were shattered when he gave way to a fan-out and it took only Swain's pop into the catcher's mit to add up the box score and turn to the nightcap game.

The two teams drew twins on the number of hits with 5 each off the pitching of Emmert and Jensen.

Elgin, Ill., July 16—(AP)—Aurora, Elgin and two Chicago teams were undefeated today in the race to crown an Illinois state semi-pro baseball champion.

Elgin Stars and the Palmer House Indians of Chicago, won their openers yesterday, the former defeating the Chicago Grizzlies, 4 to 1, and the Indians winning over the famous Chicago's 14 to 3. Aurora and the Spencer Coals of Chicago won on Thursday.

No games will be played today, the schedule continuing on Monday.

AYERILL STILL RIDES BATTING AVERAGE CREST

No Telling Who Will Lead Nationals Every Week

New York, July 16—(AP)—While Earl Averill of the Cleveland Indians continues to ride along as easily as you please at the top of the American league batting heap, there's no telling from week to week who's going to be at the head of the National league hit parade.

Averill had an easier time than ever this week, boosting his season average four points to .373 with nine hits in 21 chances. Meantime, Ernie Lombardi, the Cincinnati Reds clouting catcher, who had a 20-point margin in the National league race a week ago, continued to hit hard, but couldn't come close to keeping up with the pace wallowing Wally Berger set during the week. This newcomer to the Reds clouted 18 hits in 30 chances, boosted his mark 52 points and skyrocketed into first place with a gaudy .380 average.

British Champion Ice Skater Dead

Hollywood, July 16—(AP)—Death cheated Jack Dunn, British champion ice skater, of the film role for which he had waited two years.

The 21-year-old captain of the British 1936 Olympics skating team died last night of typhemia, a disease spread by rabbits, on the day he was scheduled to start his first picture.

Coming here after the Berlin games, he was signed by universal and later by Paramount. But while Sonja Henie, with whom he appeared in skating exhibitions, rose to stardom, Dunn remained idle.

Recently he signed with Edward Small productions and was cast in the leading role of "The Duke of West Point."

Seabiscuit And Nine Others Enter Hollywood Race

Inglewood, Calif., July 16—(AP)—The inaugural running of the $50,000 added Hollywood Gold Cup Handicap today found the once-mighty Seabiscuit and nine other candidates slated to start in the mile and one-quarter race over a track guaranteed fast.

Hollywood park made ready to receive a crowd of more than 50,000 including the usual array of movie personalities.

VICIOUS DOGS:

BEWARE OF MR. ONIK
Chicago —(AP)—Frank Onik knew just what to do when a large, strange dog bit him.

He overpowered the animal, gathered it under an arm and carried it to the office of State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney in the Criminal courts building.

"This animal bit me," he told the police officer in charge. Policemen called from a nearby station shot the dog and took Onik to a hospital. The dog's head was sent to the health department for a rabies test.

SWEENEY POLLS BIGGEST NUMBER OF GRID VOTES

Chicago, July 16—(AP)—It looks like a good bet that Charles (Chuck) Sweeney, the Notre Dame ball-hawk will be a starting member of the collegiate all-star football team which will battle the Washington Redskins August 31 at Soldier Field.

With the national poll to select the college squads nearing the halfway mark, Sweeney has the largest number of votes. His alertness in recovering fumbles played a big part in Notre Dame's successful campaign last fall.

The leaders:
Ends—Sweeney, Notre Dame, 166,392; Kovatch, Northwestern, 141,217; Schwartz, California, 40,684.

Tackles—Schreyer, Purdue, 122,526; Wolman, Purdue, 117,608; Markov, Washington, 56,983.

Guards—Kiharich, Notre Dame, 116,114; Ruetz, Notre Dame, 108,416; Minsky, Alabama, 53,156.

Centers—Wegner, Northwestern, 83,727; Wolf, Ohio State, 62,756; McCarty, Notre Dame, 65,408.

Quarterbacks—Pepis, Notre Dame, 117,563; Pilchuck, Indiana, 43,297; Robbins, Arkansas, 41,608.

Halfbacks—Heap, Northwestern, 112,843; McCormick, Notre Dame, 106,512; Isbell, Purdue, 44,293; B. White, Colorado, 45,906.

Springfield Only Step Behind Plows Near .500 Per Cent

Chicago, July 16—(AP)—Springfield was within a game of a .500 rating and a step ahead of Moline today in their fourth-place battle in the Three-Eye League, but victory failed to bring the Browns any closer to the fast-stepping leaders—Evansville and Decatur.

Springfield scored one run in the ninth to nose out Clinton, 6 to 5, while Moline fell before Bloomington, 7 to 3. Meanwhile, Evansville and Decatur returned to their winning ways after setbacks Thursday. Floyd Giebel's four-hit pitching featured the first place Bees' 6 to 2 win over Cedar Rapids. Decatur pounded out 19 hits, yet had to rally for two runs in the ninth to break a tie and turn back Waterloo, 14 to 12.

NO MATTER WHO WINS THE HOOSIERS CAN'T LOSE

Maypearl, Tex.—(AP)—Whether the government needs a Republican or a Democratic postmaster the Hoosiers can qualify—and have been doing it for 29 years.

In 1908 Charles Hoosiers was appointed as a Republican and served until the Democrats came into power with Woodrow Wilson. Then Mrs. Hooser, a Democrat, succeeded him. When Harding was elected Hooser again became postmaster.

The Democrats again came to power with the Roosevelts but party members in Maypearl figured there would be nothing gained if they asked for the appointment of a Democrat, as Mrs. Hooser would have been the choice, so Hoosier has been held over.

Hold onto your seats folks. They're unwinding the thriller reel of the big league season beginning today and running through next Thursday.

Its the "crooshal" spot of the campaign, so if there are any weaklings in the house who can't stand excitement, they'd better get their money back right now.

The boys really have their sleeves rolled up and are set for a good old-fashioned Pier Six in the Giants' series at Pittsburgh, starting today, and the Cleveland Indians'

LYONS IS SPEAKER.

A dinner-meeting, given jointly by Republican Central Committee Chairman John P. Manning and Circuit Judge Leon A. Zick, was given here Thursday night in the Masonic Temple. Although the banquet was open only to members of the Ogle County Central Committee, and a few invited guests, the speaking program which started at 8 P. M. was open to the public.

Richard J. Lyons of Libertyville, Republican nominee for United States Senator, and Edward Moore, chairman of the Cook County Republican Central Committee, were the principal speakers at the meeting. Brief talks also were given by A. K. Stiles of Sycamore, chairman of the State Central Committee; State's Attorney Charles Connors of Kane County, chairman of the county chairmen's organization of Illinois, and State Senator Charles Baker of Davis Junction. Congressman Leo Allen of Galena also spoke.

Plans for the fall campaign were outlined and Ogle county delegates were elected to the state convention at this meeting.

BUILDS RESTAURANT.

John Ackland, well known farmer residing 12 miles south of here, on the intersection of the Lincoln and Meridian highways, is erecting a modern restaurant and filling station on his property. The restaurant, which will be an imposing structure 70 feet in length and 40 feet wide, will be modern in every detail, and will be equipped with the latest in furnishings. Approximately six weeks will be needed in its erection.

When completed, this conveniently located stopping-off place will no doubt receive considerable patronage from trans-continental tourists who were formerly routed through Rochelle. It will also prove to be a popular place for local people who enjoy drives out in the country on hot evenings and like to add to the pleasure of their jaunts by stopping for light lunches, ice cream and cool drinks.

NEW BOOKS.

At the regular meeting of the board of the Plagg township public library this week, a budget based on the estimated income from sources such as taxes, fines, rental fees, was approved. The expenditures will total $4100. New books recently placed on the shelves are as follows:

Adult—Goudge, Towers in the Mist; Lane, Free Land; Laughlin, So You're Going to Travel; O'Brien, Best Short Stories, 1938; Rawlings, The Yearling; Sharp, The Nutmeg Tree; Smart, R. F. D.; Stern, The Ugly Daschund; Stevens, The Strongest Son; Watkins, On Borrowed Time; White, What People Said.

Juvenile—Darby, Peace Pipes at Portage; Daugherty, Andy and the Lion; Robinson, Buttons; Tunis, Iron Duke.

GUEST OF HONOR.

Miss Opal Bradford, who will be a bride of the near future, was guest of honor at a shower Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Cecil Griffen. Twelve guests were present for lunch which was served at Vaupel's cafe and for the social evening which followed at the Griffen home. Miss Bradford received a large number of lovely gifts.

LOCAL BOYS WIN.

The Rochelle Boys' club went to Mount Morris Thursday evening where they played softball with a team from the Mount Morris Boys' club. The local boys won the game, 16 to 11. The battery for Rochelle was Pearce, pitcher, and Oellig, catcher. The boys stopped for refreshments before returning home.
